O P I N I O N

This appeal is made pursuant to section 18593 of the Revenue and Taxation Code from the action of the Franchise Tax Board on the protest of Vernon R. Twyman against a proposed assessment of additional personal income'tax in the amount of $262.30 for the year 1977.

Appeal of Vernon R. Twyman

'The sole issue for determination is whether appellant qualified as a head of household for the year 1977.

Appellant and his former wife were divorced in 1977. At the time of the divorce, they had two minor sons, Rodney and Eric. Their marital settlement agree-ment provided that custody of their sons would be awarded to them jointly. Appellant's former wife received) physical custody of the children and appellant received rights of reasonable visitation.

For the year 1977, appellant filed his personal income tax return claiming head of household status. He named his son Rodney as the person qualifying him for that status. Respondent determined that appellant did not qualify for such status in 1977 because Rodney was not a member of appellant's housenold for the entire year. Appellant does not dispute the finding that his son did not reside with him for the entire year, but rather contends that he should be granted head of household status because he provided Rodney with complete housekeeping facilities, supervision, and support during the time his son resided with him.

The term "head of household" is defined in section 17042 of the Revenue and Taxation Code which provides in pertinent part:

[A]n individual shall be considered a head of a household if, and only if, such individual is not married at the close of his taxable year, and ...

(a) Maintains as his home a household which constitutes for such taxable year the principal place of abode, as a member of such household, of--

(1) A son ... of the taxpayer ....

Thus, whether or not appellant qualifies as a head of household depends on whether Rodney maintained his principal place of abode in appellant's household for the 1977 taxable year.' In prior appeals, we have held that this requirement means that the qualifying individual must occupy the household for the taxpayer's entire taxable year. (Appeal of Douglas R. Railey, Cal. St. Bd. of Equal., Aug. 15, 1978; Appeal of Harlan D. Graham, Cal. St. Bd. of Equal., Oct. 18, 1977; Appeal of Willard S. Schwabe, Cal. St. Bd. of Equal., Feb. 19, 1974; see, construing the similar federal statutory provision (Int. Rev.-Code of 1954, § 2(b)(1)), Stanback, Jr. v. United States, 39 Am.Fed.Tax R.2d 805 (1977).))

Appeal of Vernon R. Twyman

In a letter to the Franchise Tax Board, appellant states that his son lived with him "from time to time during the period in question." Therefore, although the record does not state exactly how much of the year Rodney lived at appellant's residence, it is clear that he did not reside with appellant for the entire taxable year. Further, the marital settlement agreement expressly provides that his mother's home is to be Rodney's place of physical custody except during times allotted for visitation with appellant. There is nothing in the record which indicates that the time Rodney spent at appellant's residence was anything other than appellant's allotted time for visitation. For these reasons we conclude that appellant cannot qualify for head of household status.
